HARRINGTON-MSTP SCHOLAR AWARD AT CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

FUNDING OPPORTUNITY

OVERVIEW

The Harrington-MSTP Scholar Award recognizes Case Western Reserve University Medical Scientist Training Program (MSTP) students whose research has shown innovation, creativity, and the potential for progressing from scientific discovery to a medical therapy. The award includes milestone-driven funding, as well as research and drug development support, to advance the student's work towards the clinic.

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS WILL RECEIVE:

- Up to $100,000 in milestone-driven grant funding for one year
- Drug development expertise and project management support for one year (potentially renewable for a second year)
- Opportunity to qualify for up to $750,000/program upon reaching commercially viable milestones
- NOTE: IP rights are retained by the awardee or their institution.

THE HARRINGTON ADVANTAGE

A personalized therapeutics development team, including former leaders from the pharma industry and a dedicated project manager, surrounds each Scholar with expertise to de-risk and advance their discovery towards the clinic.
